

Distribution center proposed for longtime golf course land

HUDSON, N.H. (AP) — A company is proposing to build 2.6 million square feet of space to house a distribution center in New Hampshire.

Hillwood Enterprises has proposed the Hudson Logistics Center in Hudson at the longtime Green Meadow Golf Club. Hillwood anticipates that once operational, the center would be the town's largest employer.

Hillwood is scheduled to present its Hudson Logistics Center application and proposal to the Hudson Planning Board on May 27. It hopes to start construction this fall and open in the fall of 2021.
